Originally from Hogback, New Mexico, Jonathan's works often feature Indigenous peoples and culture in authentic portrayals of Indigenous life and reflections of a thriving, adapting, and resilient Diné culture. His style blends comic and street art, Diné cultural motifs, the southwest desert landscape, graffiti, and scifi imagery into an eclectic mix that is utterly unique. Jonathan is both an American Indian Youth Literature Award winner and honoree. He would love to work on picture books featuring Indigenous characters and story as well as fantasy.
