Website

Roxsy Lin is a Venezuelan author/illustrator based in Southern California. She grew up in a tiny town called Merida, where she used to sneak into her Abuelo's poetry reading group. Every new word she learned filled her heart with joy and wonder. Following that passion, Roxsy became a journalist and now writes for the Los Angeles Times and others. Roxsy is committed to sharing the stories of her community, especially those of underrepresented immigrant Latina women.
